

BusinessLive

First ever Bentley-branded luxury residential tower planned for Miami beach front

Construction on Bentley Residences is scheduled to start in early 2023, with completion due in 2026

BY

Jon Robinson

• 10:33, 12 APR 2021

The planned Bentley Residences in Miami (Image: Bentley)

Plans are being drawn up to develop the first ever Bentley-branded luxury residential tower in the world.

The Crewe-headquartered automotive giant has partnered with Florida-based property developer Dezer Development to construct Bentley Residences in Miami alongside Sieger Suarez Architects.

The tower will contain more than 200 apartments built for residents and will stand at 749ft and more than 60 stories high.

The building will be a prominent figure on Miami's Sunny Isles Beach coastline and the tallest residential tower on any US beachfront.

Construction on Bentley Residences is scheduled to start in early 2023, with completion due in 2026.

The core of the building will feature a car elevator while each residence will include an in-unit multi-car garage.

Bentley Residences will also offer ocean and bayside views in every apartment while the homes will have a private balcony, pool, sauna and outdoor shower.

"We've partnered with Dezer to create a living experience that expresses the very philosophy of the Bentley brand and stays true to our vision of inspiring extraordinary journeys."

"Partnering with Bentley Motors, a true global luxury brand and being able to create another first in the Miami marketplace is an extraordinary opportunity," added Gil Dezer, president of Dezer Development.

"With Bentley Motors, together we will create something inspiring, powerful and iconic – a true game-changer when it comes to luxury living."